PIERCE, KING AND VICTORY

RALEIGH, SATURDAY, OCT. 9, 1852.

"No North, no South, no East, no West, under the Constitution; but a sacred maintenance of the common bond and true devotion to the common brotherhood."

FRANKLIN PIERCE.

FOR PRESIDENT:
GEN. FRANKLIN PIERCE,
OF NEW HAMPSHIRE.

FOR VICE PRESIDENT:
WILLIAM R. KING,
OF ALABAMA.

ELECTION TUESDAY 2D OF NOVEMBER.
Democratic Republican Electors.

For the State at large, JAMES C. DOBBIN.
First District, WILLIAM H. THOMAS.
Second District, BURTON CRAIG.
Third District, WALTER F. LEAK.
Fourth District, ROBERT P. DICK.
Fifth District, ABRAHAM RENCHER.
Sixth District, L. O'B. BRANCH.
Seventh District, SAMUEL J. PERSON.
Eighth District, D. G. W. WARD.
Ninth District, THOMAS BRAGG.

DEATH OF WILLIAM H. HAYWOOD, JR.
We are pained to have to record the death of this distinguished citizen. He expired, at his residence in this City, on Thursday morning last, after a long and painful illness.

The deceased had filled a large space in the eyes of the people of the State for many years past. His death is deplored as a heavy loss to the community in which he was born and resided, and to the Bar of the State, of which he was a shining ornament.

We shall present in our next a more extended notice of the life and character of the deceased.

THE LEGISLATURE.

We refer our readers to another part of this paper for the proceedings of this body from Tuesday to Thursday, inclusive.

It will be seen that Committees have been raised on the subjects of the Electoral Districts and of adjournment. The Committee on the Districts reported on Thursday, but the Committee on adjournment has not yet acted.

The Senate was engaged for the most part of Tuesday, Wednesday, and Thursday in considering the contested election case from Camden and Currituck. The certificates of election, the votes upon the case in the Senate, &c., will be found in to-day's paper.

It appears from these certificates that Dr. Shaw received, in the two Counties, 338 votes, and Mr. Barnard 337. This is not disputed; but Senators who have spoken in favor of referring the matter to a Committee, have gone out of the record before the Senate, and brought forward statements not admissible under the circumstances which surround this case. The arguments of Mr. Caldwell, Mr. Hoke, and Col. Bower, in reply to Messrs. Jones, Bynum, Lillingston, and Kelly, were, in our humble judgment, conclusive. Mr. Caldwell examined the whole case in a masterly manner. He took it up, point by point, thoroughly exposing the untenable positions of the speakers on the other side.

The insinuations from the friends of Mr. Barnard, that the Democratic side of the Senate were disposed to decide this case, not upon the evidence but according to the dictates of party, struck us as being out of place and not altogether charitable.

Those who are first to impute partisan motives are not always the last to be influenced by such motives. The friends of Dr. Shaw have done, in this matter, what they believed to be their duty. They have awarded the seat to the gentleman who is, in their judgment, justly and fairly entitled to it; and in doing this they have been guided by the wishes of a majority of the landholders of Camden and Currituck. Instead of permitting this case to be referred to a Committee, to "drag its slow length along" for weeks and weeks, they have acted promptly, and have given to the people of the District a representative on the floor of the Senate, to look after their interests and utter their voice in the public councils. If party (Whig) advice had been followed, no such result would have been attained; but we should have had a Committee, taking depositions, contesting irrelevant points, and delaying action on the part of the Senate; and, after all, the question would have been taken and determined, in all probability, on the very evidence upon which that body has already acted.

WAKE SUPERIOR COURT.

This tribunal has been in session here this week, Judge Settle presiding, with his accustomed ability and patient attention to his responsible duties.

The time of the Court has been mainly occupied with the trial of an indictment, The State vs. the Rev. Patrick W. Dowd—Mr. Attorney General Eaton and B. F. Moore, Esq., for the State, and Gen. Saunders and H. W. Miller, Esq., for the defence. The Counsel on both sides, we learn, acquitted themselves well. The Jury could not agree, and were discharged.

On Thursday, His Honor Judge Settle adjourned the Court for the day, as a mark of respect to the memory of the Hon. Wm. H. HAYWOOD.

The Pierce and King Electoral Ticket for this State is now complete, by the addition of the names of Burton Craige, Walter F. Leak, and Robert P. Dick. These gentlemen are able representatives of the party, and will do valuable service in the good cause. We learn that Mr. Craige and Mr. Dick have already taken the field; and we hope soon to hear that Mr. Leak's voice has been raised in behalf of our noble ticket. Mr. Leak is well posted up in political affairs, and we know that Franklin Pierce and William R. King are men after his own heart. Push on the column!

BE ACTIVE! BE VIGILANT!!

From every portion of the State the indications in favor of Pierce and King are of the most cheering nature. From the sea-beaten coast of Currituck to the cloud-capped mountains of Cherokee, the Democratic ranks are firm and united, and marching in solid phalanx to certain victory. The hosts of the enemy are routed, their ranks broken and scattered, and they are animated only by the hope that the Democrats, so certain of victory, will relax their efforts, grow careless in their confidence, and not put forth their strength on the day of election.

Shall this hope prove true? We trust it will not. Let every friend of Pierce and King determine, and determine now, that it shall not. The time until the election is short, and we should improve it. Our opponents are active, wily and vigilant, and will exert themselves with all the power of desperation. Let us emulate their activity and vigilance, and on the 2nd of next November the Old North State will stand proudly forth, confirmed in the faith into which the August elections baptized her.

There was a time, and a long time, when the Democratic party of North Carolina, though conscious of the rectitude of its principles, battled almost without hope of success, and certainly without success. The overwhelming numbers of its opponents rode over it and stifled it; but with a strong and abiding faith in its men and measures—the only thing that could have saved it from annihilation—it never despaired, never quailed, never yielded without a contest. In the darkest hours of its defeat it was found buckling on its armor and preparing to renew the conflict. Strong in the belief that truth and justice and right would at last prevail, it never relaxed its efforts; but springing with new-born zeal from every defeat, it rallied with increased vigor to the strife.

But that time of doubt, almost of hopelessness, has passed. We now grapple with the foe, conscious not only of the justice of our cause, but of our strength also. We now labor with a well founded hope of success, nay, with a certainty of success, provided we call into requisition that industry, that activity, that vigilance, and that perseverance which characterized us in our efforts in the days when hope of immediate success did not cheer and animate us.

And shall it be said of us, that after fighting through many long years, and fighting valiantly, when the star of hope was so overclouded as to be almost entirely obscured, that we at last faltered, grew supine, and held back when that star was beaming, as it now is, in all the splendor of an unclouded sky? "None but the brave deserve the fair," and none but the vigilant deserve the victory. Let us have confidence enough to inspire us to action; but not that over-confidence which induces apathy. The expiring throes of our adversary will be violent; and there is necessity for watchfulness on our part. If we do our duty, our whole duty, success awaits us. If we rally now in all our strength, make one more united onset, the day is ours; and Sewardism, Greelyism, and "higher-law"ism are banished from North Carolina. But one fortress remains to be stormed, and until that is taken let us not slumber on our arms.

In Franklin Pierce and William R. King are embodied those broad principles of truth, justice and nationality which are the pride and ornament of the Democratic party. No narrow sectionalism, no disgusting favoritism, no ridiculous toyism, and no damnable Abolitionism hang to their skirts. They were not foisted upon their party by a fanatical "higher-law" faction. They do not resort to the contemptible littleness of one's going on a pilgrimage in a "covered carriage" and addressing a rabble "standing in the rain and mud," while the other stays at home and writes letters in his behalf. They are men above such petty resorts, and so far above suspicion as to render such extraordinary and unusual means wholly unnecessary.

Let us all resolve, then, to rally one more—let us put forth all our strength in one more effort; and, if possible, to push Pierce and King even ahead of the Democratic vote of August. Is not a large and overwhelming majority worth striving for? What Democrat would not feel proud of eight or ten thousand majority for Pierce and King over Scott-Sewardism? The greater the majority the greater our pride, and the deeper the dependency of our adversaries. Then let our watch-word until the election be work! work! WORK!!!

The Scott men and boys held a meeting in this City on Wednesday night last, which was addressed by Messrs. Gilmer, Spruill, and McDugald. Mr. Gilmer, in his effort to belittle FRANK PIERCE said it had been said he was "a drunken Abolitionist—a drunken cowardly Abolitionist!!" He also said the evidences of the personal liability and virtues of Gen. Pierce were to be found in the fact, as stated by him, that he had once given twenty-five cents to the Sunday School scholars in Concord, and one cent to a poor boy to buy a stick of candy!

This is the manner in which the campaign is conducted by many of the Scott leaders in the South. We know that Whigs were disgusted with Mr. Gilmer's speech; and we are confident that no good to the Scott cause will result either from his remarks, or from those of Messrs. Spruill and McDugald.

Such stuff as the above is unworthy of Mr. Gilmer. He ought to be ashamed of it.

We take pleasure in informing our readers that the political intelligence we have obtained from the Democratic members of the Assembly now in attendance here, is of the most cheering nature. We hear from all the opinion that Pierce and King will sustain Gov. Reid's vote, and that Scott and Graham cannot possibly poll the vote which Mr. Kerr received.

We are indebted to Mr. Pomeroy for a copy of the Life of Franklin Pierce, by Nathaniel Hawthorne. This is a most readable and interesting little book; every Democrat, especially, ought to have a copy.

The Hon. T. L. Clingman has been in this City for several days past. We learn he expects to leave in a day or two, for his District.

ENTHUSIASTIC MEETING.

The Pierce and King Club of this City had a most enthusiastic and interesting meeting on Monday evening last. In the absence of the President, Perrin Busbee, Esq., took the Chair, and called the meeting to order, Messrs. G. T. Cooke and M. A. Bledsoe acting as Secretaries.

The meeting was addressed briefly and in a spirited and effective manner, by Samuel P. Hill, Esq., of Caswell; after which W. W. Avery, Esq., of Burke, was called out. He spoke more at length and with his accustomed clearness and force. He communicated cheering tidings from the "blue mountains" of the West. He assured the meeting that the Democracy of the West was united to a man on Pierce and King, and would roll up a most satisfactory vote on the 2d of November. Mr. Hill and Mr. Dobbin were warmly received and cheered by the assembled Democracy.

The Hon. James C. Dobbin, the Democratic Elector for the State at large, having been waited on by a Committee, appeared before the meeting, and was greeted with the most enthusiastic applause. He spoke for an hour and a half in his best manner, rivetting the attention of all, rousing the Democracy by his clarion tones, and forcing conviction on doubting Whig minds. Our encampments were of such a character as to prevent us from hearing the whole of his speech; but we learn that his effort on the occasion was in every respect worthy of his high reputation as a public speaker.

The Pierce and King Club will meet again on Wednesday evening next, in the Court House. Interesting and able addresses may be expected.

It has always been usual for the party which has the majority in either branch of our State Legislature, to claim the Speakership; and we were not, therefore, surprised at the election of Mr. Baxter over Mr. Dobbin. This was simply a party triumph in a matter involving the distribution of political power; but we must say we were not prepared to see Perrin Busbee, Esq., Principal Clerk of the Commons, proscribed from office. The office of Clerk is purely ministerial. He exerts no political influence, and it is, therefore, not material whether he be a Whig or a Democrat. Mr. Busbee had made, as all will admit, a most acceptable Clerk. He was prompt, intelligent, and remarkably correct in the discharge of his duties; and he has been turned out purely on party grounds, to make room for a gentleman, who, although he may discharge the duties devolved upon him satisfactorily to the House and creditably to himself, was nevertheless unknown to most of the members, and certainly untried. The proposition of Mr. Blow, to compromise the matter by appointing Mr. Busbee and Mr. Dodge, was alike just and fair, under the circumstances; but the majority, having been previously talked up to it, stood forward, like a wall of brass, for "the spoils." It was known that members were absent, whose votes might have secured the election of Mr. Busbee, and who were expected to arrive the next day; but this was of no avail—the edict had gone forth—the axe fell, and one more Whig got his reward.

Let the people remember these things when they come to deal out justice to the Scott leaders at the polls.

It is not to be disguised that the Federal leaders are making desperate efforts to carry North Carolina for the Seward candidate. Our friends must rouse themselves, and put forth their best exertions. We must meet the adversary at all points, expose his tricks, his false allegations against our candidate; and we must also thoroughly advise the people of the danger they will incur by voting for Scott and Graham. But all this will amount to but little, if all the Democrats are not induced to turn out and vote. The time for argument has nearly passed—the hour for action is well nigh upon us. "Warn the Committees!"—be sure that the day of election is well known among all our friends, and that Electoral Tickets are duly distributed at all the precincts. Go then to the polls, brother Democrats, and work for your ticket, take your neighbors along with you—get out all the voters, and the day will be ours.

ELECTORAL TICKETS.

Democratic Electoral Tickets will be furnished at the Standard Office, at $1 per thousand. We hope our friends will send in their orders at once, and see to it that not only every County but every precinct is supplied with tickets.

Now is the time to work. Pick your flints, friends—see that your ammunition is in the right place and of good quality, and then fire away. It will not do to go into battle without weapons. Let us know how much ammunition you want, and where to send it, and you shall have it forthwith.

That excellent Agricultural paper, The Farmer's Journal, edited by Dr. Tompkins, Bath, N. C., continues to visit us regularly, and we are very much pleased to see that it promises well to sustain itself in the midst of a formidable competition. A generous support of such a paper by the farming public, would tend in a great degree to regenerate the agricultural interests of the State. The enterprising editor has our continued wishes for his success in the wide field of usefulness upon which he has entered.

Meeting of Directors. Thursday last was the day appointed for a meeting of the Directors of the North Carolina Railroad at this place. Gov. Morehead and one Director, Mr. Thomas, were present. Of course no quorum was present, and no business was transacted. Mr. Jenkins, the Newbern Director, being sick, the Newbern interest was represented by John D. Whitford, Esq., who, we understand, presented the President of the Road with a general statement of the views of the Newbern Stockholders. Goldsborough Rep. & Pat.

ABOLITION INFLUENCES. "Now, if he [Gen. Scott] should procure the nomination by such means, are we not fully justified in coming to the conclusion that in the event of his election, the councils of the Abolitionists would be felt in his administration? No one who knows Seward, Johnston, and the rest of that damnable cohort of political knaves, can doubt this. Petersburg Intelligence, April 6th.

As we expected. Gen. Scott's speech at Columbus in which he undertook to vindicate himself from the charge of having inflicted disgraceful punishment upon German soldiers, was never delivered in public by him anywhere.

The Columbus Statesman says it was delivered, if at all, to "two friends" in Gen. Scott's private parlor at the Neil House! Rich. Enq.

[Correspondence of the Standard.]

New York, Oct. 1, 1852.

Mr. HILDEN: The Raleigh Register of the 25th ult. contains the following:

"The result of the late Election, which will be found in another column, looks well for the Whigs. We have no doubt that five of the New England States will be carried by large majorities for Scott and Graham."

I am authorized to make the following proposition: Any one who has no doubt that Maine will vote for Scott and Graham, can leave in your hands one hundred dollars; if he has no doubt that Scott and Graham will get the vote of five of the New England States, he can leave another hundred dollars in your hands, and they will be taken as bets that these States will not vote according to the predictions of the Register. I will enclose to you a check for the amount as soon as you inform me that the bets are taken. To secure the proposition it must be taken by the 10th inst.

For the Standard.

Mr. JOHN Y. PARKER, late of the County of Person, came to his death by the discharge of a gun in the hands of Lewis Brooks, a very worthy and estimable young man. The circumstances of this sad occurrence are briefly these: Parker knew of a gang of Turkeys in the neighborhood, and on last Thursday, the 30th day of September, he left home in the forenoon for the purpose of killing them, and had with him an instrument with which huntersmen are enabled to do the work and call them up, and whilst calling them, Brooks, who appeared to be out on the same business, hearing the yelping, and supposing it to be a Turkey, approached, and seeing a gray cap which Parker had on, and taking it for a Turkey, he took deliberate aim and fired, and shot him through the head, which caused his instant death. Mr. Parker was one of our best citizens, a kind Providence had blessed him with a considerable portion of this world's goods, which he used to make all around him happy.

A FRIEND.

THE DUKE OF WELLINGTON. His Income, Habits, &c. The late Duke of Wellington was an immense Duke during life. As Commander-in-Chief, the Duke was entitled to draw something over eighty dollars a day, or about $30,000 annually; and as Colonel of the Grenadier Guards, he was entitled to nearly $6000 a year or more. He drew a pension of nearly $20,000 annually, in possession of which property given him by the British nation, to the amount of 700,000, or nearly $3,500,000. The pension will continue to be paid to the Duke's two next male heirs, who also inherit his large estates and his titles; but most of his offices and emoluments are to be assembled for by the nobility and others; and rich prizes will be for the disposal of the ministry.

The new Duke, at the time of his father's death, was at Frankfurt, whence he was immediately summoned. He has hitherto borne the title of Marquis of Douro, and until the late election he enjoyed a seat in the House of Commons as member for North Devon. He is 45 years of age, and bears a considerable, although not a striking, resemblance of his father. The Duke's second son, Lord Charles Wellesley, was with him at the time of his death. He is 41 years of age, and has a seat in the House of Commons as member for South Hampshire.

The Duke's habits were extremely temperate. He slept little, and ate but a small dinner, and was not fond of military associations or for health's sake, used a hard mattress and camp bed. He appeared to avoid display in his dress, equipage and attendants, preferring horse exercise to the state and luxury of a carriage, and even when increasing weakness rendered it inconvenient for him to sit on horseback, day after day he was still to be seen ambling slowly down to the House of Lords, touching his hat to the crowds assembled round the entrance to catch a glimpse of the veteran warrior. His household was said to be a model of good order and good management. He incurred no debts; punctual and precise in all his dealings, he was always just and frequently, though privately, generous. His Waterloo banquet, which for many years drew around him his surviving companions in arms in his last glorious field, were the only exceptions to his usual indifference to display. On the occasion of the late services of plate and prizes, chess, pictures, statues and all the other favors, honors and presents which had been conferred upon him by the sovereigns of Europe, were not inappropriately displayed.

THE WEBSTER MEETING ON FRIDAY NIGHT. We dropped in at the Court House on Friday night almost at the close of the meeting of the "National Republicans," and did not, therefore, hear all their proceedings; we learn, however, that it was resolved to send a delegation to the Convention of Georgia, for that of Mr. Graham, on the ticket with Mr. Webster. Col. Wm. E. Anderson, we understand, made some very calm and sensible remarks upon the position which he and other seceding Whigs occupied at this juncture; and deprecated the action of some who had, at first, in obedience to the dictates of party spirit, and in judgment, come out, but had subsequently allowed themselves to be whipped in or carried off by the current.

In speaking of the substitution of another name for that of Mr. Graham, Gen. McRae adduced one reason which should be well pondered by all the citizens of Eastern Carolina, who are persuaded to swallow the Scott ticket, because Mr. Graham is on it. Mr. Graham, the General said, has always been unfriendly to this section of the State on the subject of Internal Improvement—he has been, like Governor Morehead, Virginian in all his feelings, and antagonistic to the Cape Fear region and interest. There are few better authorities upon this point than Gen. McRae. How do our Scott and Graham friends get over this, or expect a very enthusiastic support here for Mr. Graham?

Hon. CHARLES M. CONRAD. We asserted some time ago, that this distinguished gentleman, at present Secretary of War, was opposed to the nomination, and to the election of Gen. Scott. The Washington Union of the 15th September, asserts the same thing. We invite the attention of the whigs of Louisiana, and especially of the Second Congressional District, which Mr. Conrad represented when he was called to this office. If it is as Mr. Conrad opposed to Gen. Scott? Would he oppose him but for good and sufficient reasons—reasons that concern every man in Louisiana? Mr. Conrad is a whig; a resolute and ardent whig; he is at Washington, with access to every source of information; his official relations with the President, the Secretary of State, and the War Department, give him a full and complete knowledge of the administration, and his political principles. Yet, with all these lights before him, he refuses to support Scott? Whigs of Louisiana, do you not hesitate when such men as Webster and McRae, and the rest of that damnable cohort of political knaves, Garrett and Parham oppose your nominee? N. O. C.

A RAILROAD FROM SUFFOLK VA., TO CHOWAN RIVER, N. C. The citizens of Gates, N. C., and the adjacent counties are agitating a scheme for the construction of a railroad from Gatesville, a point on Chowan river, to connect with the Seaboard and Roanoke Railroad, at or near Suffolk Va. The Norfolk Argus says the distance will not exceed 25 miles, through a level country, and the cost of the work is estimated at not more than $150,000. It will shorten the time of travel to Norfolk, from 12 or 13 hours, as at present required, to about two hours, thus affording a speedy as well as cheap communication from eastern North Carolina to the North. Application is to be made to the Legislatures of Virginia and North Carolina for a charter.

THE RICHMOND WHIG LOATHING THE FUGITIVE SLAVE LAW!! The following is part of an editorial article in the Richmond Whig, of Wednesday, September 29th, 1852:

"They (the slaveholders) would never have asked for the Fugitive Slave Law—not that the Constitution does not give them the right to demand it—but it was a HARMFUL MEASURE—better calculated to inflame and exasperate sectional feeling, and endanger the security of slave property, than to produce any salutary results. They would not themselves like to be required to catch other people's negroes, and they very naturally supposed that just task would not be a pleasant one to persons whose education and prejudices were all opposed to the institution of slavery."

NEW YORK, Oct. 4. Augustus Bowen, Cashier of Messrs. Brown & Brothers, was arrested to-day. He is charged with being a defaulter to the amount of $223,000—the result of several years' speculations in stocks. A. D. Comstock, Broker, implicated, has also been arrested.

THE GOOD OLD NORTH STATE.

BY JUDGE GASTON.

Carolina! Carolina! Heaven's blessings attend her! While we live we will cherish and love and defend her; Tho' the scorner may sneer at, and wifings defame her, Our hearts swell with gladness whenever we name her.

Hurrah! Hurrah! The old North State forever! Hurrah! Hurrah! The good old North State.

Tho' she envious not others their merited glory, Say, whose name stands the foremost in Liberty's story! Tho' too true to herself e'er to crouch to oppression, Who can yield to just rule a more loyal submission? Hurrah, &c.

Plain and artless her sons—but whose doors open faster At the knock of the stranger or tale of disaster! How like to the rudeness of their dear native mountains, With rich ore in their bosoms and life in their fountains, Hurrah, &c.

And her daughters! the queen of the forest resembling, So graceful, so constant, tho' to gentler breath trembling, And true lightwood at heart—let the match be applied them How like the kindle in flame—oh! none know but who've tried them. Hurrah, &c.

Then let all who with us love the land that we live in, Raise a shout for Liberty and Freedom, Love and Peace be before us, Raise aloud, raise together the heart thrilling chorus, Hurrah, &c.

WHAT IS LIFE? The following beautiful description, in answer to this question, is from Rev. Mr. Mountford's Euthanasia: "The present life is sleeping and waking; it is 'Good Night' on going to bed, and 'Good Morning' on getting up; it is to wonder what the day will bring forth; it is to amuse and to be amused; it is to walk on the window, as one sits by the fire; it is to be in the garden, and see the flowers open, and hear the birds sing; it is to have the postman bring letters; it is to have news from East, West, North and South; it is to read old books and new books; it is to see pictures and hear music; it is to have Sundays; it is to pray with a family morning and evening; it is to sit in the twilight and meditate; it is to have business to do, and to do it; it is to have breakfast, and dinner, and tea; it is to belong to a town, and to have neighbors, and to be one in a circle of acquaintances; it is to have friends to love one; it is to have sight of dear old faces; and with some men it is to be kindled daily by the same loving lips for fifty years; and it is to know themselves thought of many times a day, in many places, by children, grand-children, and many friends."

The Republic is happy. It thinks General Scott and his friends "may reasonably be proud" that he gets eighteen dollars a day for electioneering, paid to him out of the public treasury. Now, as eighteen dollars a day is good wages at any time, we should like to know what limit the Republic would fix as an unreasonable? Washington Union.

DIED.

At Eureka, in Wake County, on the 29th of September, JOSEPH LAWRENCE, infant son of J. Robert and Ann E. Jeffreys.

In Franklin County, on the 28th of September last, EDWARD PLUMMER, son of William K. and Lucy T. Martin, aged two years and three months.

"Poor broken flower! what art you now recover thee!"

Torn from the stem that fed thy rosy breath— In vain the sun beams seek To warm that faded cheek The dew of Heaven, that once like balm fell over thee, Now are but tears to weep thy early death."

In Chatham County, on the 3d instant, Mrs. SARAH WILSON, wife of Asa Wilson, and daughter of Edmund Busbee, dec'd., in the 71st year of her age. It rarely happens that one is taken from our midst, more universally esteemed and tenderly beloved than was the deceased. It may be truly said of her, she died in the consciousness of having performed, with a true Christian fidelity, the duties of her whole life, as an upright and blameless member of the Baptist Church, which her piety adorned; and her last accents, as the spirit took its flight to Heaven, were low sweet murmurs of her blessed Saviour's name. Her neighbors and friends will long cherish the memory of her virtues and of the good she did.

In Nash County, N. C., on the 28th ult. JAMES T. WILLIAMS, in the 27th year of his age.
